Seller says SELL! The Stover Barber Shop building has housed at least three generations of barbers throughout the past 50 years or more, and is waiting for the next generation of successful business people to come through its' door. While the building is a nice spot for a new barber to move in, with chairs and equipment in place, there are many other possibilities, including a future boutique, jewelry shop, computer store, coffee shop, bistro... the possibilities are many. but the best feature is that it has had successful businesses in it for decades. Do you have an idea for a business you would like to open or relocate? Come take a look inside this commercial building that is waiting to house its' next successful business. Schedule a showing today.
