Compact Ozarks Retreat in Shell Knob Are you looking for a compact retreat in the Ozarks? This unique property in Shell Knob, Missouri, offers a simple setup with room to expand, surrounded by the quiet beauty of an old rock quarry. The one-room cabin sits privately among the trees and features a wood stove for heat, making it a practical space for weekend stays or a rustic getaway. Nearby, the one-room tiny house provides an additional heated living area with a propane heater, giving you two flexible structures for guests, hobbies, or personal use. A private well on the property supplies water access. Out back, the covered wagon and old tipi add character and offer additional storage or potential overnight shelter. Each structure fits the property's off-grid style and helps create a quiet, unplugged atmosphere. Shell Knob places you minutes from Table Rock Lake, known for boating, fishing, swimming, and peaceful shoreline views. Roaring River State Park is just 32 minutes west for trout fishing, hiking, and the popular summer water slide. Branson is under an hour away for live entertainment, Silver Dollar City, restaurants, and shopping. Whether you are seeking a minimalist hideout, a hunting or fishing base camp, or a small property with the essentials already in place, this location delivers simple living in a prime Ozarks setting.
