Weekends were made for places like this. 8.5 wooded acres just minutes from Pomme de Terre Lake, with a wet weather creek winding through the timber and rolling hills that make every walk feel like an escape. The mature trees give you privacy today and shade for years to come. The boat launch is only a mile away, so mornings can start with a fishing rod in your hand and evenings around a campfire under the stars. Build the cabin. Park the camper. Create the family getaway you've been talking about for years. Finding acreage this close to the lake is one thing. Finding it with big timber, a creek, rolling terrain, and room to make it your own is something else entirely. Don't wait until someone else is telling stories from your spot.
