Where dreams meet dirt and opportunity stretches as far as the view. This property is the kind of land people talk about finding but rarely do. With highway frontage on one side and wide-open views on the other, it's the ideal blend of peaceful country living and high-visibility opportunity. Want to build your dream home? Run cattle or raise horses? Create a homestead with room to roam? You've got the space, the setup, and the freedom to do it here. Want to put up a commercial building on the corner to take advantage of highway traffic? You've got the location for that too. An old milk barn and a second barn both with electric already sit on the land, and a wet weather creek winds through the property, adding both character and charm. Cell tower land is not included in this sale. Land like this doesn't come along often. It's not just a property it's a blank canvas for your legacy.
