There's a certain kind of lake house people picture when they imagine having a place where the whole family can come together and this one was made for those weekends. Wake up to miles of Big Niangua views, grab the boat and spend the afternoon skiing, tubing or cruising the lake, then come back to a home with enough room for everyone to spread out without feeling crowded. With 4 bedrooms, 3 baths and lake views from nearly every room, family and guests can settle in comfortably while three levels of remodeled decks keep everyone connected to the reason you're here: the water. Dinner outside, drinks in the screened three-season room, a late-night soak in the hot tub or time in the two-person sauna can all become part of the routine. Down at the water, the private concrete dock offers a 16x40 slip, two PWC slips and a 12x20 swim platform ready for full days on the lake. And when you want something beyond the water, Ha Ha Tonka's springs, trails and natural beauty are just around the corner, with golf, dining, shopping and Camdenton nearby. Photos show the house. Walking through it while looking out over the Big Niangua is what makes this property worth seeing.
