Set on 20 beautiful acres in a highly sought-after location, this one-of-a-kind property blends thoughtful architecture, flexible living and an incredible connection to the outdoors. Currently under construction and designed by Intrinsic Homes, the residence offers a fresh interpretation of modern mid-century design, tucked into a canopy of mature trees that gives the home an unmistakable treehouse feel. Every element of the design has been intentional, with artistic details incorporated in ways that are both functional and elevated. At the heart of the home, the kitchen and living spaces were designed to bring the outdoors in, featuring expansive accordion-style doors opening to the deck and a pass-through kitchen window that makes indoor/outdoor entertaining feel effortless. The flexible floor plan offers four bedrooms, with spaces that can easily adapt to the way you live. At the front of the home, one bedroom could just as easily function as a private office, with the ability to welcome clients without bringing them through the main living areas. Upstairs, an oversized bedroom opens to an expansive balcony large enough for entertaining and could also function beautifully as a second living area, studio or private retreat. Beyond the home, the 20 acres offer a rare mix of heavily wooded ground, open pasture and a wet-weather creek. Toward
