Tucked into the Village of Four Seasons, this wooded corner lot gives you something most building sites don't: options. With road frontage on two sides, you have more flexibility when it comes to driveway placement, home orientation, garage access, and how you want the property to live. Keep the trees for privacy, open things up around your future home, and create a place that feels like it was designed for the setting not squeezed onto it. And when you're not at home, you're surrounded by everything that makes Four Seasons such a sought-after Lake of the Ozarks community, with access to pools, boat ramps, tennis and pickleball courts, interior lakes, playgrounds, fitness facilities, walking trails, and more.
